Chapter 172: The Divine Triad’s Intervention – Unreachable Power

The Divine Triad — Ashborn, Sung Jin-Woo, and Sung Su-Ho — watched over the Lesser Divine: Duo Dragons with keen interest. They had guided the Duo Dragons’ growth, imparting wisdom and power, but they knew the time was fast approaching when their grandchildren would need to surpass even the limitations of their current abilities. The Divine Triad were aware that the Lesser Divine had become formidable beings in their own right, but there were still vast gaps in their potential, gaps that only the Triad could bridge.

---

1. The Time Dilation of the Divine Triad

To maintain their positions as the pinnacle of creation and to continue exerting their dominance over the universe, the Divine Triad decided to manipulate time once again. They had already set time dilation for their own inner worlds and the clones' inner worlds of Sung Ye-Jun and Sung Ye-Rin. However, this time, they went further.

They adjusted the time dilation to an even more extreme level: one second outside would now equal one hundred years inside their realms and their clones’ inner worlds. This was a monumental shift, one that further ensured that the Divine Triad would retain their status as the gods of the multiverse.

---

2. The Benefits of Extreme Time Dilation

With this new time dilation, the Divine Triad could now accelerate their growth even more rapidly. While the Lesser Divine: Duo Dragons had gained vast strength from their inner worlds, the Divine Triad would be able to outpace them at an even faster rate. Their power, influence, and knowledge would expand exponentially, further pushing the limits of what they could achieve.

The Divine Triad had always been beyond the reach of other beings, but with this new time dilation, their inner worlds would evolve at a pace that no mortal, no divine being, or even the Lesser Divine could ever match.

---

3. A New Realm of Power

The Divine Triad knew that with this adjustment, they would be able to accomplish feats of creation and destruction that would remain beyond the reach of any other beings. In their inner worlds, they would build new realms, create new forms of existence, and weave new threads of reality.

Even though the Lesser Divine were powerful in their own right, they were still not yet fully divine. They had the potential, but they were far from reaching the absolute divinity that the Triad embodied.

With the new time dilation in place, the Divine Triad would create unimaginable forces in their inner worlds while their clones would undergo rapid development. The Triad's clones would now experience one hundred years of growth in the span of only a single second outside. This meant that, even as the Lesser Divine advanced in power, the Triad would always remain far ahead.

---

4. The Ever-Expanding Reach of the Divine Triad

The Divine Triad were not just ruling gods, they were the architects of all existence. They controlled creation, manipulation of time and space, and the forces of life and death. They had given birth to the Lesser Divine: Duo Dragons, but now, they were setting the stage for an era that would see their influence reach even greater heights.

The Duo Dragons would have to work tirelessly to catch up with the Triad, and though they possessed immense power, it was clear that the Divine Triad would continue to set the standard. Sung Ye-Jun and Sung Ye-Rin would be forced to evolve at a greater pace, pushing their own limits in ways they had never imagined. But no matter how much they grew, they would never be able to surpass the Triad's power — not with the new time dilation in place.

---

5. The Unreachable Pinnacle

The Divine Triad's true power now lay in their complete mastery over time, space, and creation. Their influence would spread across the multiverse, and they would continue to hold dominion over realms, beings, and realities. Sung Ye-Jun and Sung Ye-Rin would continue to develop and strengthen, but they now faced an insurmountable gap between them and the Triad.

The Lesser Divine had become more than just powerful heirs; they were symbols of the future. But their journey to greatness would forever be marked by the presence of the Divine Triad, whose power and time dilation ensured they would remain the unreachable pinnacle.

---

6. The Unfolding Future

As the Lesser Divine pressed forward in their quests, the Divine Triad observed with patience. They knew the eventual outcome of their actions, and they understood that the Duo Dragons would become key players in shaping the future of all existence. Yet, no matter how powerful the Lesser Divine became, the Divine Triad's power would remain the guiding force in the multiverse.

The future was now set in motion. The Lesser Divine would grow, develop, and strive to surpass their creators — but they would never be able to fully reach the heights of the Divine Triad. The Triad's wisdom, power, and creations would forever shape the destinies of all beings, making them the true rulers of everything, past, present, and future.

With the new time dilation, the Divine Triad had cemented their unassailable dominance, ensuring that no force in the multiverse could challenge them. The Lesser Divine might reach new heights, but they would always be playing catch-up in the presence of these ultimate beings.